Lester E. Burdick, the plaintiff, testified that he purchased a horse soven years old, valued at $100, and that Deputy Sheriff William H. Casey, acting for Hewitt, look the horse on the day of purchase, April 37, 1971, and that the horse has not been returned. Mr. Eurdick said that Casey took the horse by virtue of a writ of attachment. The horse was at the Corey farm, where it had been taken by Amos Burdick who was no relation of witness. Casey had the horse in his possession for about a month and the animal was then sold at sheriff's sale. While the absent had the horse in his possession no altempt was made to replevin the horse, although wilness said he gave Amos Burdick 55s to hus the horse from Louis Dutalo. Witness saw the horse in the early evening of saw the horse in the early exening of the date of purchase. It was above him by Amos Burdick and then taker to the Corey farm. Amos gave witness the receipt signed by Dotelo for the purchase of the borse. He said he had never purchased a horse from Charles W. Rewitt.

Amos S. Surdick testified that he purchased a bay horse from Dotolo for Lester E. Furdick and paid $50 for the horse with money of lester E. Burdick. The horse had the distamper at the time of purchase and he considered the house to be worth $100. He handed receipt from Detalo to Lester Burdick the day of the purchase. That stens afternoon Deputy Shoriff Caser, Charles W. Hewlit Frank (thamplin and Attorney Ledwidge arrived in an automobile and took the borse under an arrachment. v. Cotton Mather Smith, and his other was one of the Mather family Windsor and Suffield. He was the of Windsor and Suffield. He was the last governor of Connecticut under the ald charter of Charles II, the constitution of the state being changed in the year 1818. He married Margaret (Peggy) Everston in 1788 and some of the silver on exhibition is that brought by her into the family and is marked with her initials. Governor Smith was a descendant of Rev. Henry Smith, the first pastor of the Wethersfield church.

The son of John Cotton Smith was William Mather Smith, who in 1809 married Miss Helen Livingstone, one of the well known Livingstone family of New York state. She in her turn brought more priceless heirloom silver into the Smith family and some of the most beautiful theces shown are those of the Ilivingstone family. Other marriages and littermarriages have added their quota, and altogether they make this collection one of the most valuable of all collections of family silver in America.
